Opening Remarks

In their welcoming and introductory remarks, invited speakers will refer to Cyprus as a commercial hub for the eastern Mediterranean and beyond, its legal tradition with regard to dispute resolution

Vassilis G. Rologis, Chairman ICC Cyprus

H.E. Nicos Anastasiades, President of the Republic of Cyprus

Costas Clerides, Attorney General

Demetrios Hadjihambis, President of the Supreme Court

10:00 – 10:30

The importance of ICC arbitration and mediation in Cyprus and throughout the region

John Beechey, President, ICC International Court of Arbitration

Q&A

10:30 – 11:30

Presentation of the ICC 2014 Mediation Rules

Combining ADR with arbitration proceedings

Multi-tier dispute resolution clauses: Practical considerations

On 1 January 2014, the new ICC Mediation Rules entered into force. The new Mediation Rules have been adapted to help parties resolve even the most complex cross-border disputes quickly and reliably. Changes include the setting of mediation as the default technique, as well as increased support from the ICC International Centre for ADR, the only body permitted to administer the new Mediation Rules.

Hannah Tümpel, Senior Counsel and Manager, ICC International Centre for ADR

11:30 – 12:00

Coffee Break

12:00 – 13:00

Controlling time & costs in international arbitration

The increasing and occasionally unnecessary complication of arbitration proceedings is often considered to be the main explanation for the long duration and high cost of many international arbitrations. This session will present ways in which arbitration practitioners may tackle this challenge, and also explain how the techniques suggested by the ICC Rules can assist arbitral tribunals, parties and their counsel in devising tailor-made procedures.

John Fellas, Partner, Hughes Hubbard & Reed LLP, New York

Julien Fouret, Counsel, Castaldi Mourre & Partners, Paris

Q&A

Moderated by: George Economou, Senior Partner, G. C. Economou & Associates, Athens; Quadrant Chambers, London

13:00 – 14:00

Lunch Break

NEW TRENDS IN ICC ARBITRATION AND MEDIATION

Nicosia, 29 April 2014

14:00 – 15:00

The multi – scenarios, joinder and consolidation

The ICC Rules provide for specific mechanisms applicable in cases involving multiple parties and/or multiple contracts. Through an interactive session, the panel will present an overview of the relevant provisions, explain the ICC Court's decision-making in the joinder of parties and consolidation of arbitrations, and illustrate the above through practical examples.

Alexander Fessas, Counsel, ICC International Court of Arbitration, Paris
Marily Paralika, Associate, White & Case, Paris

Q&A

Moderated by: Alecos Markides, Ex Attorney General, Markides, Markides and Co, Nicosia

15:00 – 15:15

Coffee Break

15:15 – 16:15

Arbitration and National Courts

State courts play a focal role in arbitration in that they affect various aspects of the arbitral process, such as the constitution of arbitral tribunals, the conduct of proceedings and the review and enforcement of arbitral awards. The panel will provide insight on the relationship between state courts and arbitral tribunals and also explain the relevance of the place of arbitration as a factor affecting this relationship.

Maria Athanasiou, independent international arbitration practitioner, Cyprus
Constantine Partasides, Three Crowns LLP, London

Q&A

Moderated by: Marcos Gregorios Dracos, Barrister, One Essex Court, London

16:15 – 16:30

Concluding Remarks Kypros Chrysostomides, Managing Partner, Chrysostomides Advocates and Legal Consultants, Nicosia
